

Why the FBI, and other major agencies, won't respond to your complaint in a corruption investigation

By Andrea Lunst- UCSF

If you tell the FBI about a crime they have to write up "302 Reports" on it.

If they write up 302 Reports on a crime then Congress and the public can subpoena those reports and, by law, the FBI has to do something about the crimes revealed to them.

If you reveal crimes that active public officials are involved in, then those officials will threaten, bribe or blackmail the law enforcement bosses who are supposed to investigate those crimes.

Thus, by reporting a crime that involves, Say Barack Obama, The DNC or Hillary Clinton; you create a situation where the FBI has to ignore you because Barack Obama, The DNC and Hillary Clinton will use billions of dollars of campaign financing, threats, bribes and extortion to intimidate the FBI.

If you get to go "into the back" at an FBI office then that goes on Federal record and the FBI has to do something about the crimes reported.
